Scenes In The Hall-Mills Case

Sensation has followed sensation in the renewal of the inquiry into the murder four years ago on a farm on the outskirts of New Brunswick, N. J., of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, his choir leader. Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, the widow; Henry de la Bruyere Carpenter, her brother-in-law, and Willis Stevens, her eccentric brother, are under arrest. Records of the original inquiry were missing until Marcus Deekman, brother of the former prosecutor, now dead, produced them at the Grand Jury hearing. Below Police Inspector John Underwood and a group of police officers and detectives are looking over the recovered papers. The other photograph shows James Mills, husband of the murdered woman, and their daughter, Charlotte.

DEMPSEY IS "KNOCKED OUT" BY OFFICERS

(By Universal Service)

SARATOGA SPRINGS, Aug. 21.—A flock of process servers swooped down on Jack Dempsey's camp late this afternoon and attached everything he had—from the Rolis Royce his wife was riding in to the boxing gloves with which he had been sparring. They seized the ring in which he had been giving sparring exhibitions. They tied up his boxing equipment, even his clothes beyond a mere $200 worth.

They plucked the world heavyweight champion as clean as a ducks back.

The latest process server had just attached the last pair of boxing gloves in the camp and Dempsey had jumped exclaiming angrily: "This had been Kern's round, watch me get mine later."

When a shabby car drove up to the camp sitting in the rear seat was Estelle Taylor, his wife, who is a motion picture actor.

"Oh Jack they took my Rolis Royce from me!"

That was her cry when she alighted and ran to his sheltering arms telling how process servers stopped her car while she was out riding and made her get out though she showed them a bill of sale for the car in her own name and her own driving license.

"And I had to bum a ride back here, too, Jack."

Dempsey had been hot under the collar as those court officials were attaching his training equipment but now he was fighting mad—mad enough to fight Tunney, Willis, Kearns, the boxing commission and all the custodians of all the New York state laws in the same ring and at the same time—and no hold barred.

Dempsey helpless for the moment patted his wife's arms affectionately then gritted his teeth and said to those about him: "Alright—alright—this is Jack Kearns' doing. He's suing for some $333,333—but my day is coming. When it does Kearns will be just a little bit sorry he ever dragged me into the courts."

TRANSFUSION MAY BE USED TO SAVE RUDY

(By Universal Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—At one o'clock this morning, Dr. Rawles stated that Rudolph Valentino was resting easier and his temperature was slightly lower than it had been for several hours.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Rudolph Valentino's condition took a slight turn for the worse tonight. Shortly before ten o'clock he was given a hypodermic injection to stimulate his heart. The physicians stated that a blood transfusion might be necessary to bring him back to health.

George Ullman his faithful representative immediately insisted that his own blood be taken. A sample of Ullman's blood was taken for analysis and if all is well—and the transfusion is needed—he may lie beside Valentino while the operation is performed.

At ten o'clock the film stars temperature was 103 having receded from 104.2 to which point it had shot up during the afternoon. Physicians again stressed the statement.

"He is in a serious condition, not necessarily dangerous. Tomorrow should tell the tale."

Nine Year Old Boy Names Killer

(By Universal Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—A 9-year-old boy today broke the inviolable code of gangland, and from the witness stand at a coroner's inquest, named the man who, he said, shot and killed Joseph Ne-rone, alias Spano, called "El Cavallero" by the band of gunmen over whom he ruled as czar.

The witness was young, unversed in the ethics of the underworld, of which he was an unwitting part, and in answer to a question, he blurted out the name of Tony Asillo, 32, a macaroni salesman, as the slayer.

The boy, Nunzio Scardini, son of John Scardini, owner of a barber shop where the "Cavallero" was slain, told his story in broken English.

He saw the "Cavallero" leap from his automobile and run toward an alley, he said. And then he saw Asillo, pursuing in another machine, fire two shots at the fleeing man. Serone crumpled and fell.

The father of the boy, who had testified he did not even hear the shots was held as an accessory to the slaying.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Cells, 689 Ninth street, accompanied by their son Louis and grandson Robert Perry left yesterday morning for Portland, Oregon, where they will spend a two weeks vacation.

JOOST WAGERS ON GOLF SHOT IN TOURNAMENT

Candidate for Tax Collector's
Post in This County Makes
$250 Mere Trifle Wager

Candidate expenses are evidently piling up in some quarters, and some candidates are not adverse to taking a "long shot" to replenish the old sock. Either that or a mere matter of $250 means nothing in the life of a candidate who has held his job down for a matter of twenty years. The candidate from the San Francisco Call and Post of Friday August 20, 1926, tells its own story:

By FRANK P. NOON
Whitney Olson, Olympic club member, working at Bartlett Springs, headed his approach shot on the fifth in an informal tournament the other day, and thereby caused a flock of golfers scurrying around town seeking opinions on match and medal play rules.

A. M. Bergevin, who plays Lincoln park links most every afternoon, remarked that Olson's shot on the fifth had won the tournament for him.

M. W. JOOST, TAX COLLECTOR OF CONTRA COSTA COUNTY, OFFERED TO WAGER $250 AT EVEN MONEY THAT OLSON'S SHOT SHOULD HAVE BEEN PENALIZED 2 STROKES UNDER U. S. G. A. RULES. BERGEVIN ACCEPTED THE BET AND ROBERT V. SHEEHY WAS NAMED STAKEHOLDER.

BERGEVIN AND JOOST REPAIRED TO THEIR HOTEL AND WROTE THE FOLLOWING TERMS OF THE BET:

"A. M. Bergevin bets M. W. Joost $250 against $250 that with the flag in the cup, a player shooting from any point on the green can count his ball as holed, if it stays in the cup."

After receiving a copy of the terms, Stakeholder Sheehy started out to find out who should get the money.

Under U. S. G. A. rules for match play, rule 32 states: "Either side is entitled to have the flag-stick removed when approaching the hole; if a player's ball strikes the flag-stick, which has been so removed by himself, or his partner, or either of their caddies, his side shall lose the hole."

"If the ball rest against the flag-stick which is in the hole, player shall be entitled to remove the flag-stick, and if the ball fall into the hole, the player shall be deemed to have holed one at his last stroke."

Under rules for play in stroke competition, rule 13 states: "When a competitor's ball lying within twenty yards of the hole is played and strikes or is stopped by the flag-stick or the person standing at the hole, the penalty shall be two strokes."

"Neglect on the part of the person standing at the hole does not exempt the competitor from incurring the penalty. (R. & A.)."

Under match play rules, Bergevin wins. If the event at Bartlett Springs was a stroke competition, Tax Collector Joost collects. Stakeholder Sheehy can now decide who's who and who gets the kale.

Rumor of Smith's Withdrawal Denied By The President

(By Universal Service)

PAUL SMITHS, N. Y., Aug. 21.—President Coolidge tonight authorized an official denial of the published report that he has asked Col. Frank Smith to withdraw as the Republican candidate for U. S. senator in Illinois because of the campaign contributions accepted from Samuel Insull.

$1000 BET ON ELECTION IS LONESOME

By THE LOST NOMAD

Awakened this fair and sunny morning by the loud trident tones of one Charles Brown, plastering contractor who laments the fact that a $1000 bet which he is offering that H. A. Johnston will not be the next supervisor in this district is going begging.

"I've placed that amount in the hands of a stake holder but all it seems to have been able to gather to date is a lot of dust," Brown lamented. He even offered to go as high as $5,000 is necessary to cover any reckless bettor who might think he was being offered a mere trifle.

"And to make matters worse," Charley continued "I offered to give any man $100 who would find a taker for the money and he turned on me and after a great deal of abuse insisted that he was used to work up hard for his money but that he would not attempt the impossible."

FOREIGN TRADE HELD AS VITAL BY SEC. HOOVER

(By Universal Service)

TACOMA, Aug. 21.—Describing foreign trade as "a vital part of our whole system," and "not a spare part to be used in emergencies," Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, addressed Tacoma business men at noon today in the Hotel Winthrop. His subject was "The Future of Our Foreign Trade."

Hoover diverted his discussion from sober figures for a time to declare that restriction of individual effort, on the theory that such a policy made more jobs, was an economic fallacy. "Our national unions have long since declared against such theories," he said.

Commerce and industry are not everything, the secretary asserted. "Ours is not a nation of factories, railroads, dynamo, warehouses, trade or ships," he said. "It is a nation of men, women and children. When we consider themes of production and trade we need be guided in our conclusions by that course which will promote their welfare and comfort."

"If by our efforts and our discussions we enlarge their standards of living it is an economic thing, but it is a far greater thing than this, for security and living and comfort yield the opportunity for the greater fullness of life of the spirit which is the true purpose of human service."

After his address here, Secretary Hoover left for Seattle where he will make his first public statement on the Columbia River irrigation project at a mass meeting to be held tonight at the University of Washington stadium.

Rumor of Opening Of Churches In Mexico Is Denied

(By Universal Service)

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 21.—Reports of the possible resumption of religious ceremony under the supervision of the Catholic clergy pending the outcome of the present struggle in Congress and the court between the church and its adversaries were discounted in church circles here today.

It was pointed out that both the suspension of ceremonies and the boycott was directed against regulation still operative.

Simultaneously President Calles investigation to take the matter to Congress and the courts opens the way for the church to freely express its views. Evidence in the statement issued this evening criticising certain activities of the authorities in connection with alleged plots against the government.

Elmer Ellsworth, veteran employee of the Standard Oil company, is rapidly recovering from his illness and is able to be about again.

CITY OFFICIALS ASK PASSAGE OF VETOED BILLS

Mayor Chandler and Other
City Officials High in Praise
Of Yosemite Session

Declaring that their work had been delayed because of the vetoing by the governor of bills passed at the last session, the California League of Municipalities in convention at the Yosemite last week passed resolutions asking that action be taken on these bills, according to Concillman E. J. Garrard who has returned from the conclave. Among the bills is the city planning resolution adopted by the league for more authority in rezoning sections of cities.

The league stressed the necessity for legislation in this matter because of the difficulties faced by many of the cities in trying to enforce their zoning ordinances.

In the matter of constructing inter-city boulevards, a decision handed down by the supreme court one month ago now makes it possible for cities in different counties connecting the communities. Heretofore, obstacles were faced by cities delaying the work because of lack of funds and by technicalities. Now, as a result of the decision, the work can be done as one job, through the cooperation of the cities; can be more speedily completed and will be less of a burden on the people.

There were 760 delegates from the various cities in the state present at the convention. The meetings of the various divisions—city managers, city engineers, city health officers, city planning commissions and other committees—were well attended, showing the interest taken by the representatives of the cities.

Mayor Mrs. Mattie Chandler spoke with praise of the benefits derived from the meetings, especially the conferences on street work and sewerage and other public improvements.

The next convention of the league will be held in Sacramento probably in May. An attempt is being made to hold the conferences earlier so that the excessive heat will be avoided.

Officers of the league elected are: president, J. R. Slippy, of Stockton; secretary-treasurer, H. A. Mason of San Francisco and executive secretary, William J. Locke, city attorney of Alameda.

Those present from Richmond were Mayor Mattie Chandler, Councilmen J. H. Plate, Marie O'born, John I. Collins, E. J. Garrard, Frank Scholes, Commissioner of Health Dr. Charles R. Blake, City Veterinarian Dr. R. R. Root, City Engineer E. A. Hoffman and Dr. W. W. Fraser, of Richmond, commissioner of health of El Cerrito.

Plane Rushes Venum Serum To Monterey

Last Tube Of Anti-Venum
Serum Rushed to Save Victim Stuck by Rattler

An airplane yesterday rushed one of the last tubes of anti-venom serum on the Pacific Coast to Monterey in an effort to save the life of J. E. Thompson, 21, a senior at Stanford University who was bitten by a rattlesnake while deer hunting in the hills back of the San Clemente dam.

Thompson who was the week-end guest of S. F. Morse, one of the owners of the Hotel Del Monte, succeeded in killing the snake but not until it had sunk its fangs into the flesh of his right leg. Two classmates, S. F. B. Morse, Jr. and John More, rushed him to Monterey where he was turned over to surgeons at the Peninsula hospital.

Physicians at the hospital said that Thompson had a good chance for recovery because of the drastic first aid precautions taken. He is the son of a prominent engineer of Mexico City.

The Luckenbach Laboratories, Pacific Coast agents for the Pasteur Institute in Paris is given as the reason for the shortage. While the tube shipped to Monterey is the last of the stock in the laboratory, it was learned that the Spring Valley Water company and a laboratory in San Diego still had a supply.

The serum was shipped by automobile to San Mateo and thence to Monterey by Checker airplane.

O'BRIEN HAS BEEN CAUGHT

Lawrence A. O'Brien, who escaped from the San Francisco county jail where he was serving a sentence for embezzlement, a year ago, has been captured in Seattle, according to word received yesterday. O'Brien was the former vice-president of the First National bank of Bay Point.

He was sentenced by Federal Judge George M. Bourquin and began his term January 30, 1925. Six months later he fled from the county jail. E. L. Bohner, head of the Department of Justice agents, was informed of the arrest in Seattle.

Grand Jury to Probe Attacks On Chicago Girls

(By Universal Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Additional reports of attacks on young girls in Chicago were made today as preparations for a grand jury investigation of the situation were underway. The grand jury is scheduled to go into session Monday.

A seventeen year old girl told assistant state attorneys today that she had been forced to leap from an apartment window in order to prevent an attack. She told of how she had been lured to the apartment by William Mariman, 27 who told her he was forming an orchestra in which he wished to place her as a member.

When she was found on the street she was clad only in a coat.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hansen, 463 Tenth street left yesterday for a two weeks vacation to be spent at Richardson Springs in Butte county.

President Calles

(By Universal Service)

The episcopate states that it has definite suggestions to make to the President which it will be difficult for him to refuse.

(By Universal Service)
SAN DIEGO, Aug. 21.—Confirmation was lacking here today of a report from Los Angeles that a boat left Los Angeles harbor with a cargo of arms and ammunition and a crew of 35 revolutionists bound for Santa Rosalia, on the Gulf of Lower California.

The Mexican patrol boat Tecate and an American revenue cutter, it was reported were pursuing the rebel boat.

General Enrique Estrada, leader of the revolutionary movement against Lower California, who was captured with his army of 150 men near here last Sunday, was at liberty today on bail of $20,000, furnished by a surety company.

Because the Marine Corps desires to be rid of them, and for "psychological reasons," the little army of 150 men under command of General Estrada, which was captured at their concentration camp preparatory to an invasion of Lower California, will be distributed among the county jails of Orange, Imperial and San Diego counties.

At Sittell, United States Marshal in charge of this district, said today he was strengthened in this decision by reports of an attempt by Miguel Comaduran and Carlos Lopez, two of the prisoners, to incite the army to riot. The prisoners are now held at the marine base here.

Only five of the insurgents have furnished bail.

MUSIC AND THE MOVIES

Difference of opinion there may be as to the influence exerted by the movies upon literary and dramatic taste, but there scarcely can be any doubt concerning the contribution of the moving picture theatre to musical appreciation in the United States. The influence, to be sure, has been indirect, but for that very reason perhaps, it has been more potent.

Early in the development of the moving picture industry, theatre managers discovered that the "silent drama" was more effective if a musical accompaniment were provided, and even when film productions were still relatively crude, most movie houses were provided with at least the nucleus of an orchestra. In some instances, the old weeze about the orchestra "re-moving his cigarette from his mouth and starting to pound the piano keys" was apropos, but even this somewhat primitive institution contained the germ of the present elaborate musical organization which today is an essential part of the entertainment facilities of the high-class motion-picture theatre.

In many of the larger cities there are motion picture theatres which stress the musical program more strongly than the film features of the entertainment, and virtually every high-class movie house endeavors to provide a respectable orchestra.

Before the advent of the movie, the general public often had small opportunity, and less inclination, to avail itself of good orchestral music. With first class musical programs provided daily at popular prices, and as a sort of side dish, as it were, the average young American has heard more classical and semi-classical compositions than ever before in the history of the country, and his taste in such matters has been elevated almost in spite of himself. And the same holds true for organ music, which previously was rarely heard outside the church.

PLUTOCRATIC BARBERS

A thing is news in inverse ratio to the frequency of its occurrence, according to an ancient dictum of Park Row. Such being the case, the man who financed a two month's trip to Europe for the barber who had shaved him for 21 years, should be given a place of prominence on the first page of most of the metropolitan newspapers.

Doubtless many financiers have preferences in tonsorial artists. It is even likely that a good many, like Mr. William H. English, the banker in question, may have insisted over a period of years upon having a certain barber shave them. But not often has this liking been demonstrated in so substantial and public a manner, despite the classic example in French history of a barber gaining high honors.

In these days of dollar hair-cuts, dollar massages, extravagant tips, and barber shops which rival the ancient Roman baths in luxury and expensive equipment, however, many barbers are not dependent upon the largesse of any particular customer should they desire to take a pleasure trip to Europe or anywhere else.

Europe seems to be demonstrating the truth of the paradox that it is more difficult to forgive our creditors than our debtors.—New York Sun.

Aristotle taught that the world was composed of four elements, earth, fire, air, and water, but he didn't dream that someday they might be all combined in a synthetic highball.

It would be those who have to remain behind who would really suffer.

What's In A Name?

Helen, one of the oldest of feminine names, is derived from the Greek root "eleo." The English meaning of the word is "give of light."

Helen of Troy, whose loveliness caused the ten-year siege of Troy because she had fled her husband with the beautiful Trojan Prince, Paris, was said to have been the daughter of Zeus and Leda. She was married to the King of Sparta when a child.

Many parents have objected to naming their children after the lovely but unstable Helen of Troy, preferring to take Helena, the sister and empress, as the founder and representative of the name. Helena was the wife of Constantine, Emperor of Britain and Gaul. She built many convents and churches and in 326 A. D. when ninety years old, she made the trying journey to Palestine, where she superintended the building of Mount Calvary church.

In Ireland the name Helen is used as Eileen and Aileen; in Scotland it is Ellen; in Spain, Helena; in France, Helene and Helene; in Germany, Helene and in Italy the popular form is Leonora. Among the derivatives are Elaine, Nell, Nellie, Elinor and Eleanor.

Florists are advertising, "Say it with Moonshine." They know that the flowers will follow.—Carnegie Tech. Puppet.

Some men think they are versatile because they act hard-boiled one minute and half baked the next.

Now that George Bernard Shaw has praised the schools of America it's time to see what's wrong with 'em.

That Child Of Yours

By Ruth Matthews

"How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is to have a thankless child," exclaims the half-crazed Lear, invoking a curse on his inhuman daughter. And while few children have reached the depths of ingratitude depicted by Shakespeare, examples of lack of feeling on the part of children for their parents have always been abundant and are only too frequent today.

Nevertheless, modern parents are coming more and more to realize there are two sides to the question of duty as regards the relations between parents and child, and it is a hopeful sign. Until recent years, one heard much of the child's duty toward the parents and very little of the parents' duty toward the child. Certainly the child owes a duty to the parents who sacrifice time, comfort and money to give him a proper chance in life, but in the past too many fathers and mothers have been prone to look upon the child merely as an investment, a potential source of income to be made actual at the earliest possible moment.

Modern View Is Different. Unfortunately, such parents still exist, but the conviction is gaining ground that those who bring children into the world are in duty bound not only to feed and clothe them properly, but to educate and otherwise fit them to make their way in the world. Relics of the old regime remain in some states, where children are required by law to contribute a stipulated amount to the support of their parents.

Child Should Be Considered

Whatever the facts may have been, it seems clear that the courts in ruling on such cases should give the child the benefit of every reasonable doubt. Primitive peoples in times of famine, war, or other catastrophe, have seldom failed to sacrifice the aged for the welfare of youthful and more able-bodied members of the tribe, and the fundamental soundness of this principle is recognized in medical practice of today. It is a far cry from the semi-civilized bushman to the culti-

USING SNIFFERS

Not all men are in the intelligentsia class. Some of them possess no higher literary accomplishment than signing their names to a check, the amount of which a dozen authors and artists would aspire to. If you have gone to school a few months more than your husband and learned no more than to be cynical of him, your education was worthless. What about his other traits? An artist may charm as a suitor but may lack temperament and money as a husband.

There is nothing divinely saintly in laughing at a struggling man's mistakes. That is being guilty of abominable snobbery. It is putting the snuffers on love-light in your home so that in life's twilight you will have only a flickering glow or blackened embers. Better start in with a sense of high endeavor to help him. That will put you in the headliner class.

PROVERB: "He that mocks a cripple ought to be whole."

THE MOTHER OF HELEN HAYES

Helen Hayes, the young actress who has become celebrated through her delineations of the flapper, is a child prodigy who grew up to be a finished artist, and to her mother's watchfulness belongs a great deal of the credit.

Playing child roles, Helen received much praise, even from professionals, but her mother gave all her attention to her daughter's education and ignored the call of sides until she was convinced that Helen really was destined to be an actress. Then she took sole charge of her daughter's career.

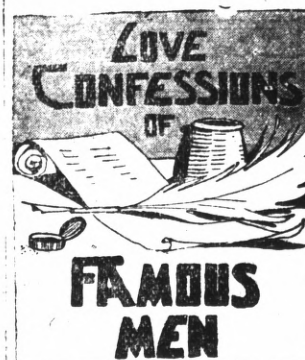

"So when I was eight years old," says Miss Hayes, "Mother and I set out to conquer New York. She was as ignorant of the ways of managers as I was myself. We were two babes in the theatrical woods. We laugh about it now. Think of all the talented stage children in New York! The managers could get all they wanted—and most of them didn't want any. So we wandered vainly from one office to another until it began to look as if the world would have to get along without seeing me.

"Then mother remembered that Lew Fields had once sent her a letter about me. She thought he had forgotten it, but she had wisely kept it for future use and now went to see him with it.

"Mr. Fields did remember. He wrote a part for me into a play called 'Old Dutch' which he was rehearsing. I was with the production for several seasons, then mother said that would be all for the time being, did not hesitate to take me away from the opportunities that were facing me, and took me back to Washington for two years study at a convent school."

Victor man and woman of the present time, but most of us recognize that age must give way to youth.

The aged have lived their lives and had their opportunities, and while children with the common instincts of humanity naturally would do all in their power for their parents, few thinking men or women would care to see youthful opportunity hampered to the extent of rendering the coming generation less useful to society as a whole.

EMILE ZOLA'S MIMI

No one knows today who she was; no one knows where she went. She was just a little girl of the Paris Bohemia who met a young writer and went to share his freezing garret with him.

When she had warmed it by the fever of her love and the writer had gained the courage and confidence to battle successfully, with adversity and gain a foothold on fame, she disappeared, perhaps to lead her fiery presence to some other stranger.

Emile Zola, the great French novelist is the writer in the case and he has left for all the world to know this description of his first love:

EMILE ZOLA

"... I thought of my last excursion to Fontenay-aux-Roses with the loved one, the good fairy of my twentieth year. Springtime was budding into birth, the path was bordered by large fields of violets. She leaned upon my arm, laughing with love from the sweet odor of the flowers. Deep silence fell from the heavens and so faint was the sound of our kisses that not a bird in the hedges showed fear.

"We ascended the woods of Verrieres, and there, in the grass, under the soft fresh foliage, we discovered some tiny violets. Directly I found a fresh one. I carried it to her. She bought it off me and the price I expected was a kiss."

"And now, said the hubbub of the Paris markets I thought of all these things and of all my happiness. I remember the good fairy, now dead and gone, and the little bouquet of dried violets which I still preserve in a drawer. When I returned home I counted their withered stems; there were twelve. And over my lips there passed the gentle warmth of my loved one's twenty kisses."

have been advanced by naval experts. But if she broke in two or grounded on some lonely key, or floundered, why was there no wreckage, no life rafts, no life belts? None was found. And how could a splendid, entirely seaworthy steamship, simply vanish on a trade route within easy radio call of a dozen other ships and of land?

Probably no one ever will know. The fate of the Cyclops is another of those mysteries of the sea history of the World War.

Beacon Chapter Apron Social Well Attended

The apron social held last night by the Beacon Chapter, O. E. S. proved one of the most successful affairs this season for the chapter. A crowd estimated at numbering over 250 were present and freely patronized the booths.

A surprise program was featured during the evening. Roy Holcomb showed pictures of the fruit and meat packing industry.

The real hit of the evening was the one act play presented by a group of the ladies of the chapter. Those taking part included Mrs. Lester Wood, Mrs. W. Morgan, Mrs. Velma Quinn, Mrs. Edith Chapin, Mrs. Amy Mung and Mrs. Lillian Gillard.

The booths did rushing business throughout the evening and the stock of aprons, made by the ladies was soon sold to the eager customers.

The fish pond and the fortune telling booth were as well patronized.

Dancing concluded the evening's entertainment with radio music being finished.

The committee in charge, headed by Mrs. Lillian Gillard, declared that this was one of the most successful and entertaining affairs held by the chapter for some time.

STAGE AID HAS SUCCESSFUL FOOD SALE

The Pon Honor store was the scene of a most successful food sale held by the Ladies Aid of the Stage Presbyterian church yesterday morning. Mrs. H. Eisenberger, assisted by a large committee was in charge of this affair which was well patronized.

Literary Talent Bursting Forth In Washington

(By Universal Service) WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Instead of slackening brain power "Dog Days" in the national capital seem to have produced a burst of literary genius, especially among the ladies.

They have been budding all spring and summer. In fact, first one you'll hear about, and then another and another. It seems that a few years of life here has that effect.

With the brown-eyed Nancy Hoyt and Mrs. Richard Washburn Child safely tucked away, so far as first announcements of their bookish brain children are concerned, we have with us today three others.

Clara Sharpe Hough is the latest thing in capital novelists. She has written about "Lief the Lucky," and the period she spent here gives us a claim to a part of her at least.

And then again, we name Mrs. Charles D. Walcott, wife of the secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, who writes about wild flowers with the best of 'em.

Going back to Mrs. Hough a minute, she came to Washington in 1918 to accept a job as scenario editor of the Department of Agriculture, so as to be with her husband, George A. Hough, Jr., assistant to Herbert Bayard Swope of the War Industries Board.

The young couple, just married, set up housekeeping and went to work. Always an "army girl"—Mrs. Hough is a niece of Lieutenant Colonel L. W. Prunty—they plunged into a life that was even in war days gay and colorful.

And all that time Mrs. Hough kept on writing stories. She simply couldn't help it, having begun in college days the habit of jotting down interesting things about her travels over the country. So when a romance about the early Norse days popped into her brain, what could she do but put it into print, and it will appear in a year of Viking Renaissance.

Back in the war days, Mrs. Walcott was considered one of the capital's charming hostesses. With the three daughters of the house she made the Colby home a "joy forever" to those fortunate ones privileged to run in and out.

But not one of her intimates had any idea that Mrs. Walcott was hiding a bright literary light under the bushel of innumerable and continuous social duties.

Consequently when one now picks up a recent copy of a popular magazine and sees her story called "The Narina House," one is really surprised and delighted.

Mrs. Walcott now is absorbed in the work of preparing more volumes of North American wild flowers, a subject seemingly inexhaustible. She goes down to her office in the Smithsonian every day, just as if she were used to spending the "lucid" season in the torrid city.

Usually Dr. and Mrs. Walcott are at their camp in the Canadian Rockies, playing and studying at the same time, blazing new trails on horseback and on foot. Thus did the Walcott lady collect data for her works, the first volume of which came out last fall and the second now is about ready for the press. There will be

Carroll to Charge $110 Per Seat For New Production

(By Universal Service) NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The irrepressible Earl Carroll, looking large this week on the theatrical bill-boards, is offering orchestra chairs for the premier of his new ventures on Tuesday night at $110 each.

Is the performance worth it? Oh No, not at all, even the cautious Carroll concedes that—but with him, it is a case of vanity, all is vanity and he is catering to the vanity of the towns people and transients. He believes that there will be many eager to be among the select at $110 per seat merely for the sake of boasting about it. Also he will be charged—even if he does not collect the record price of the Century for the performance.

George White, the suave young purveyor of "scandals" exacted $55 a chair for the front rows at the premiere of that revue. He did not sell every chair—but yes, he did. The ticket speculators took them. But did the speculators get $55 or more for the tickets? They did not. Even the out-of-town buyers fought shy of that one.

"The motion picture is the finest friend and most powerful aid the stage ever possessed. Without the motion picture, the American stage would be stagnant. The renaissance of the theatre in this country began with the invention of the motion picture."

Winthrop Ames said that to me. If Will H. Hays or Marcus Loew or any other great figure in Cinema circles said it, the statement could be set down to personal feeling, but Winthrop Ames is rated one of the highest of the highbrows of drama—much as he dislikes the rating—and he never was interested in film production. He is not a movie fan, even he is the producer of "Tobacco" and plays which have startled the community by achieving lasting success despite predictions of swift failure.

When reminded that most producing managers believed the motion pictures were the strongest rivals of the spoken stage, he shook his head, emphatically, and replied: "The Record shows the contrary. Do you recall the condition of the American stage just before the motion picture became important as entertainment? It was stagnant."

David Belasco has successfully tested in the suburbs "Fanny," the comedy starring Fannie Brice, and "all the way from Texas," starring Willard Mack, and is now planning another production.

Last season, the veteran producer possessed what he called "a trinity of triumphs" in "The Dove," "Ladies of the Evening," and "The Harem." This season, he appears certain of repeating with "Lulu Belle," and the Mack and Brice plays. If he adds another to the list it may be a quartette of conquests.

"WET PAINT" IS ATTRACTION AT THE RICHMOND

Don't dare miss "Wet Paint!" This is not intended as a sarcastic way to warn our citizens away from the City Hall's new coat, but is rather a compliment to Raymond Griffith's latest Paramount comedy, "Wet Paint," which comes to the Richmond Theater today. If you see it, you'll have one of the gala times of your life.

A fine cast headed by Helene Costello and Bryant Washburn, the two featured players, supports the star, Arthur Rosson, director of many of Douglas Fairbank's early pictures, was at the microphone. Lloyd Corrigan wrote the screen play from Reginald Morris' original story.

Imagine the plight of a good looking young chap who has more money than he can spend, swearing he'll marry the first girl he meets! That's what Griffith says because the lady of his heart has made him propose just in order to win a bet from some friends.

Add to this ridiculous situation—one gorgeous brunette, with a "bachelor-eating husband," and a weird ride in an empty car without a chauffeur. Now you have the essentials around which, with the aid of a fine staff of assistants, Griffith has fashioned "Wet Paint."

It has laughs all the way through and will do a lot to make the silk hat comedian even more popular than he now is. One of the funniest situations is that in which Ray arrives home and finds his key does not fit the front door. He calls a passing policeman, explains his plight, and asks the officer to help him. The minion of the law breaks a window and boosts him through. Arrived inside—he discovers that it is not his home at all—but belongs to a charming young woman—the owner of a horribly disagreeable husband!

Other features include "Hot and Heavy," a comedy scream, and "Kinograms" world news events.

Might as well take the word "obey" out of the marriage ceremony for all the good it ever did.

Noted editor says: "Give Bright Pupils a Show." How would George White's Scandals do?

COLLISION OF STEAMER IS HELD ACCIDENT

The collision in the heavy fog off the Golden Gate last Thursday between the tanker La Placencia and the Williams line freighter Eagle was unavoidable according to the testimony presented at the hearing yesterday. Captain Frank T. Turner, assistant United States inspector of hulls, is conducting the hearing in the Customs building in San Francisco. It is expected that the hearing will continue into tomorrow afternoon.

Both shipmasters and crews did everything in their power to prevent the crash, it is said. Captain Charles Anderson, of the Eagle, and Captain A. Sheele, of the La Placencia were the principal witnesses at the inquiry yesterday.

Officials of Lloyds and the American Bureau of Shipping are conferring with engineers to ascertain the amount required to repair the two ships.

The estimated damage to the La Placencia has been placed at $40,000 and that of the Eagle at $20,000.

Versatile Vaudeville And "Tenth Woman" To Be Seen At the California Today

One of the most extraordinary programs of vaudeville ever offered in Richmond comes to the California Theater today, with each of the five big acts in the headliner class.

A. De La Plaza and company in "Spanish Nights" will offer an artistic repertoire of music and dances. Each member of this aggregation is an artist as well as being an excellent performer. The Hostens have a clever novelty with a surprise finale which is sure to please all. Stompy and Stella are two clever colored entertainers offering a humorous skit entitled "Hammy Speaking." Bob Milliken is another bright spot of humor on this bill possessing rare personality, and an entertaining manner. Franz Meisel and company will be a joy to all music lovers and judging from his billing "The Wizard of the Violin" he is sure to please the most critical.

One of the most brilliant casts ever assembled will be seen at the California Theater today in the screen version of the popular novel by Harriet T. Comstock, "The Tenth Woman." June Marlowe, the youngest and most beautiful screen star discovered in recent years, and Beverly Bayne, who is starting in her second production since her return to the screen, are taking the leading female roles. John Roche who recently appeared in "Her Marriage Vow" and "Cornered" takes the leading male role. Others in the cast are Raymond McKee, Charles "Buddy" Post, Gilbert Holmes, Alec Francis and Edith Yorke.

Willa Brooks is saved from suicide by Barry Compton who takes her to his ranch where she remains as his housekeeper. On a trip East Barry meets an old sweetheart, Rose Anne Brainerd, a married flapper. Because of Rose Anne's mad cap ways, she and her husband quarrel continually. Peevish because he will not go wherever she wishes, she goes off on parties with Barry without him. Finally Rose Anne, in a spirit of revolt, leaves her husband and goes to Barry's ranch to await his coming. Willa thinks Rose Anne is Barry's sweetheart, and when he returns, she decides to go away.

Barry learns that Rose Anne is repentant, and finds out at the same time that Willa has gone away. The story comes to a very delightful conclusion that will please even the most critical spectators.

"Felix Misses the Swiss"; "Kinograms" world news events, and acts road show vaudeville are other features on the same program.

Dr. Giberson Moves Office

Dr. W. W. Giberson, Richmond dentist, has moved his offices to the Dr. Hall Vestal building above the Home Furnishing company, 318 Ninth street, where he will remain until his offices at Eighth street and Macdonald avenue have been remodeled.

Why not change family doctors every four years?

You wouldn't think of such a thing because your family doctor long ago learned the characteristics of you and your family and now he can more quickly tell what ails you and to what treatment you will respond most readily. He can also look ahead and tell you how to live and what to do to prevent illness.

So it is with power companies. The men that have run them for a long time know the needs of their customers and plan ahead so that those needs can be met.

Such managers have grown up with the business. They will be on the job ten years from now or as much longer as they "make good."

They won't be changed every four years. They only change when they fail to make good.

This ability to plan ahead and build for the future has kept electricity cheap and helps to account for the

IRONWORKERS END SEASON WITH DEFEAT

The season is over for the Ironworkers—their last game yesterday with the Marines at Vallejo proved disastrous for the local team for they lost by a score of 1 to 2 to the Leathernecks.

Phil Jones used Bernadieu and Sinceri on the mound. It was the usual story for Phil, none of his regular players showed up so he had to jump into his leaping Lena and go in hunt of ball players, would-be and alleged players. In spite of this fact the game was good and had a tinge of excitement now and then.

Sinceri's homer counted for one of the tallies for the local team. The uniforms of the local team have been placed in mthballs and the Ironworkers "ain't no mo'."

How old is Ann? is not the biggest question of the day, year or century. The question the whole world is asking is whether or not Jack Dempsey will meet Gene Tunney at Philadelphia. Corbett declares he has all privileges of staging such a fight at the Sequel grounds. If it's not one thing it's another.

The latest fad in this "free and equal" country is either to stop a prize fight or a wrestling match. As announced in yesterday's Sportographs Ed "Strangler" Lewis is matched to meet Joe Stecher for the heavyweight wrestling title. Now John De Palma has thrown a monkey-wrench into the machinery with the issuance of an injunction, stating that he has the prior rights for three matches to be staged by Lewis.

MORE BASEBALL

Big Bad Bill Leard was slated to start the Pacific Coast League with deeds of desperate daring when he took over the management of the San Francisco Mission team. Instead the said Big Bad etc., finds himself gagged by the umpires. Bill tried his best to tell the umpires what he thought of some of their decisions and they gave him what is known as the "bum rush". Bill never leaves the dugout until the umpires point a finger at him to go take a leap in the bay. Bill McCarthy, president of the club, has filed a protest with the grand mogul, saying young Bad Bill is not given a chance.

DOING THE SPORTING THING

By JOE ARCHIBALD

In the most furious pennant fight in the National league since its organization, the Pittsburgh pirates still cling desperately to the top, with the Reds, Cubs and Cardinals, closing in. On the verge of reaching the peak, Cincinnati collapsed in Boston, the Braves taking six in a row from the reds, before being stoned. The lovely Bostonians are the most erratic aggregation in the league, proving a stumbling block to pennant aspirants just when the road seems smooth. The failure of Hornsby and Boutmy to hit in their usual form has kept the Cardinals in third place where they do not belong. Rajah's crew is the one that the Pirates will have to settle to take the prize. The young Buccaneers, Wamer and Rhyme from the coast, have proved a valuable addition to McClellan's outfit. They are two of the season's long list of prize rookies who have made the grade. The Pittsburgh pitching staff does not rate as high as Hornsby's moundmen. Rehm, Sherdel and Haines have done much to make up for the slump of the club's big at tacking guns. Boss Hornsby and his star first sacker, Bottomley.

Krasovich And Sinceri Signed By Sacramento

Tony Krasovich and Pete Sinceri, both members of the Ironworkers have been added to the line up of the Sacramento ball club, to report next spring at the Sac's spring training camp. Krasovich, third sacker for the Ironworkers played in seven games with the team and during that time made but one error. Sinceri, a fast ball pitcher, has plenty on the ball and went through a successful season with the Ironworkers and the Imperial Soda team of Oakland.

In case both of these boys are given a regular job with the Sacs who are making a desperate try for the Coast League pennant this year, Richmond will shine in reflected glory.

Firemen to Play Superior Tile Team

The Richmond Firemen are betting their last shirt on the outcome of their game today with the Superior Tile company team of Oakland at the First street park at 2 o'clock. This is the first time in two weeks that the Firemen have gambled around the lot and they are out for a win.

Jiggs Wright will be on the mound for the local team and Louis Laveneau will receive his offerings.

MISS BROWNE IS ELIMINATED IN EASTERN PLAY

(By Universal Service) PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 21.—Miss Elizabeth Brown and Mrs. Mary Malloy became finalists for the national women's title in tennis singles by winning their matches and defeating in all-glass sets Miss Ryan won from her sister-cousin of Santa Monica, California, 6-1, 6-3. Mrs. Malloy romped over Miss Mary Malloy, 6-1, 6-3, 6-3.

The Ryan-Browne match failed to provide a frozen gallery of 2,500 had expected. Mary, completely seeded by "dumpy" chop strokes, presented an inept defense in the opening set scoring only 13 points, two of which were earned. On the other hand her errors totaled 23 against 10. In brief, she was outclassed.

Mary is noted for dying with her boots on and in the second set carried the fight to an obviously superior rival with great courage and only extreme weariness from chasing over the baseline prevented her from carrying the issue further than 6-3.

Of the nine games played, seven went to deuce so bravely did the rivals battle. At the end, Miss Browne had 16 points to show against "dumpy's" 32, while in the matter of placements, Mary held the edge at 13 to 11, and again in earned points at 15 to 11, but she made 39 errors against Miss Ryan's 22 and that told the story.

Mary K. Brown and Mrs. Charlotte Homer Chapin defeated Mrs. Mollie Malloy and Mrs. B. E. Cole in the second doubles semi-final, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5.

NEW BUICK IS DECLARED TO BE NOISELESS

The Buick for 1927 was designed, according to the Buick engineering department, to eliminate all objectionable noises and vibration so common in most automobiles, says C. C. Kratzer.

In developing the car, all engine noises of an objectionable character were overcome. Noise in the transmission has also been eliminated.

This was accomplished by designing an entirely new transmission for all models which gives smooth and silent operation at all speeds. These results were obtained through several different improvements.

Larger gears are used, which reduce the pressure on the teeth. New tooth forms were designed, which have more teeth in contact, giving a smooth, rolling action and eliminating gear clatter. The transmission case was designed especially to dampen gear hum. The counter gears are forged in one piece, adding to the quietness of operation.

A large and positive pilot gives correct alignment between the engine and transmission. The transmission bell housing and flywheel housing have been strongly reinforced. The result is positive alignment among all units, which eliminates clutch rattle, clutch release bearing noise and gear noise.

LOCAL BOYS TO PLAY FOR TITLE IN DEL MONTE

At 5:30 o'clock this morning the Howitzer Company baseball team, composed of Richmond boys will board an Espee train for Del Monte where they will tangle with the champions of the 160th Infantry ("Los Angeles Own") for the championship of the Fortieth (Shining) division of the national guard which includes the whole of the state of California.

Ike Nemith will be on the mound for the local boys, bearing fires, floods or poker games, and it is expected that he will pitch the ball he usually does—a joe-fool 'em which keeps the batter in a daze.

If Ike doesn't go so good there are three other chuckers to take his place—Paul Villalobos, "Red" Gaddberry or Art Muth.

As usual Bill Gualdoni will don the iron mask and will reach for 'em. Henry Kollie, will gamol around at short stop; Joe DeBarro will strut his stuff at short; Marvin Gray or Red Hall will hold down first base; Gidge Cornell will probably gather the dust from left field and Ernie Barbieri will hold down the third sack. Art Muth will play center and Paul Villalobos will either warm the bench or play right. Lieutenant Jack Fisher will be on hand with an extra bag of "Mail Pouch" and may try his luck in the field and Harold Zimmerman may sub at center.

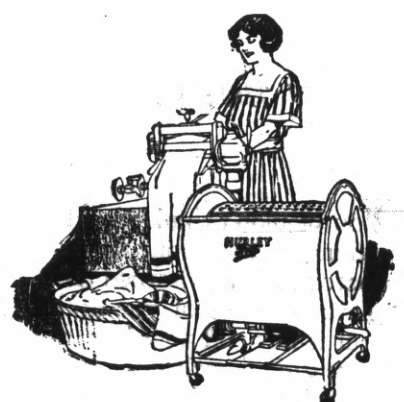

The boys are confident that they will come through with a win and take the California Championship.

While at Del Monte they will be entertained at the officers mess of the 160th.

PROBLEMS IN MEXICO WILL BE DISCUSSED

By WILLIAM P. FLYTHE
(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Whether the United States is to break or continue friendly relations with Mexico will be discussed Wednesday in a conference between Ambassador to Mexico, James R. Sheffield and Secretary of State Kellogg.

Ambassador Sheffield is to arrive in New York Sunday aboard the Ward liner Monterey from Mexico. He is bringing with him a vast number of documents in an effort to have the State Department stiffen its friendly, conciliatory attitude and force an issue, it was definitely ascertained. Sheffield will attend to personal affairs in New York for two days after his arrival and come to Washington for the improvement meeting August 25.

At the outset, Sheffield, in urging a firm Mexican policy, will encounter stout opposition in the State Department and with the administration in general, it was learned. It is stated on authority that unless Sheffield can throw some new light on the situation, and the State Department claims to be fully advised of every development—this country will continue a "hands-off" policy and regard Mexico as a friendly neighbor.

The Ambassador has made no effort to conceal his wish to have the United States make strong demands upon Mexico for modification of the anti-alien laws, it is known. He claims that they violate the spirit of the agreement upon which the Harding administration resumed relations.

It is claimed by Sheffield that in the agreements upon which recognition was based Mexico declared that American property rights acquired prior to the enactment of the 1917 constitution would be protected. Since then Mexico has passed laws which in his opinion confiscate all American properties, or make it well nigh impossible to operate them.

These anti-alien laws above all other troublesome matters, unless modified, threaten the continued friendly relations between the two countries and even Mexican recognition, Sheffield learned.

On the other hand the State Department takes the view that there is nothing new in the alien land and petroleum laws. They were enacted a year ago and since then there has been an exchange of notes on the subject. While the situation has not improved and

Japanese Mother Poisons Children

(By Universal Service)
SACRAMENTO, Aug. 21.—Grief-stricken over news that her mother had died in Japan Mrs. Shizuko Mitsuyoshi, wife of a Japanese rancher, administered poison to her two daughters and herself today and then knelt with her children before an image of Buddha to await death. The two children were found dead by their mother's side.

Mrs. Mitsuyoshi, probably will recover. The dead are Toshiko, 6, and her year old sister Misako.

Mexico has refused so far to modify the laws, it was pointed out that there has been at least "No chance for the worse."

The war between church and state has in no way aggravated the land and petroleum situation, it was declared. Since the administration would not change its policy prior to the outbreak of the religious feud it was stated there is no reason it should do so at this juncture, when it has adopted a "hands-off" policy.

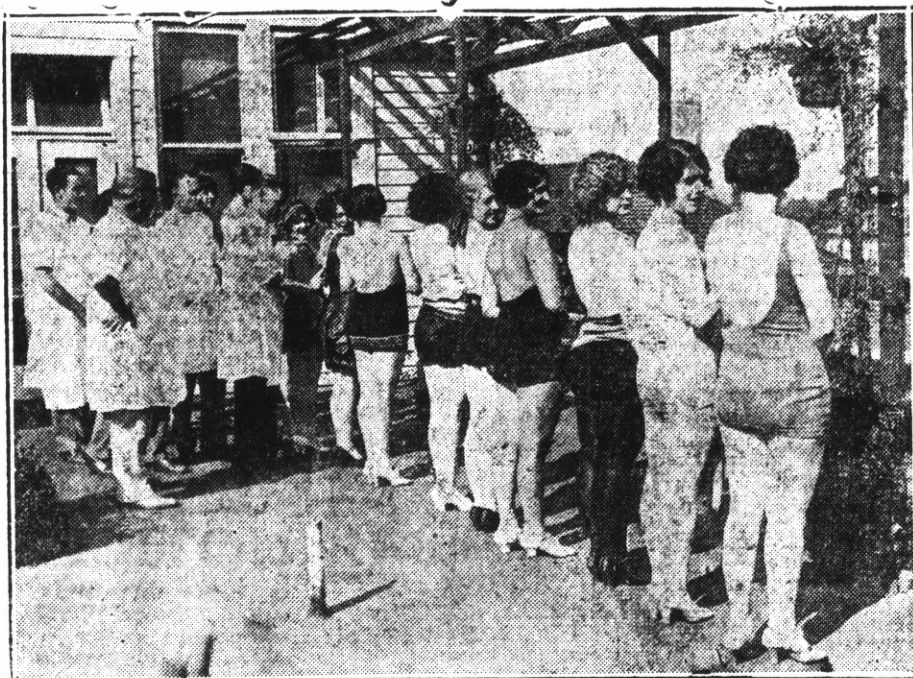

Frankly the State Department believes that nothing would be gained by breaking relations or threatening to do so, it was learned. As the situation now stands Secretary Kellogg is hopeful that some solution of the annoying problem may be reached through the exchange of friendly, conciliatory and politely insistent notes.

He is known to feel that any other policy would destroy this hope. The withdrawal of recognition, he is confident, would lead to strong anti-American feeling south of the Rio Grande. Property and lives which so far have been protected would be endangered. Consequences which would be far-reaching might follow.

In this situation it is currently reported in State Department circles that Sheffield will decline to return to Mexico. He has told "friends" it was said that he has tried the existing policy patiently and without success and feels that stronger one should be adopted.

Two Youths Are Being Held For Petty Thievery

Two brothers, 12 and 14, whose names are being withheld, were arrested yesterday by the Richmond police department on charges of shoplifting. The boys have been transferred to the Juvenile court in Martinez.

According to the officers, the two lads have entered ten stores in the city and secured such articles as fishing tackle, rifles, pens, pencils, bicycles, kodaks and knives. At the Howard Service Station, Fifth street and Macdonald avenue, they are said to have brazenly tapped the register in broad daylight and secured $5 in cash.

PACKARD AND NEW CHRYSLER IN LIMELIGHT

By ROY C. HAYES

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 21.—Today's automobile news swings around the announcement of two new lines, Walter P. Chrysler's long heralded four cylinder "50" and the new and considerably improved Packard Eight. In addition to this pair, some six other announcements are in sight. Two of these will be eight and four of them sixes. All should be ready for the market within 30 days.

Introduction of each new model has given an impetus to production with the result that output is exceeding that of the corresponding month of any previous year. Ford figures excluded. Although production will probably taper off somewhat after the first of the month, leaders in the industry generally are confident of the best fall business ever recorded.

The coming of the closed car in numbers the fact that three of every four cars sold today are closed models—and the increased good road mileage have ironed out the seasonableness of the automobile business to the point where monthly sales totals are resembling each other more closely every year. Fluctuation in production is not nearly as noticeable as a result.

An outstanding note in the bevy of new car announcements is the passing of the touring car. One or two companies have completely discontinued the model; several others have dropped the name and in the place of the touring car are building sport phaetons, snappily equipped and keenly colored.

With the announcement of the Chrysler "50," Walter Chrysler now offers the most comprehensive line of cars, under one name on the market today. Chrysler cars are now priced from $750 to $3,595, as a result of the introduction of the "50," which ranges from $750 to $830 F.O.B. Detroit.

The "50" is offered at the lowest prices for which a Chrysler car has ever sold and is available in three body styles—all closed—coupe, coach and four door sedan. Economy is suggested in the company's promise of 25 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

Comfort and roominess are stressed in the announcement of the car. The body is of all-steel construction. Chrysler engineers say that the car will do better than 50 miles an hour and will pick up from five to 25 miles in eight seconds.

The "50" is being manufactured in the Chrysler Highland park plant, where the "60" is built. Following the announcement of the new six last Sunday, Packard today introduces the new eight in line—easily the finest product ever built by Packard and embodying more improvements and refinements than have been made by Packard in many years.

The company deviates from its heretofore very conservative policy with the claim that the new eight will outperform anything on the road from agility to top speed. The prices are practically the same as on the preceding model and range from $3,750 to $5,100. Eight body types three open and five closed are available.

Precision manufacturing is evident throughout the car. Cylinders and crankshaft journals are honed with honing stones as fine as those used in honing a razor to the keenest edge. The cylinder bore of the eight has been increased one eighth of an inch, making it three and one half inches. The stroke remains the same, five inches. Bendix four wheel brakes are standard.

Reports from the Nash factory have it that the company will shortly introduce a new line of special sixes as companion cars to the present advanced and light six models. The new line is expected on the market in September.

The Rickenbacker factory which has been closed for inventory will reopen Monday, on a capacity schedule. Chevrolet, now on a million a year basis, will entertain its field force of 800 at the annual sales convention here beginning Monday.

HOMES SHOULD BE BOUGHT AS AN INVESTMENT

The buying of a home is hardly ever considered as an investment, that is from a purely investment standpoint.

The main reason for this is that most homes are built on purely and strictly residential property which on account of its location, environment and topographical conditions can never become anything but residential property.

In every new and growing city however, there are always opportunities to build one's home in a location where there are possibilities or reasonable prospects of its becoming business property. It is a well known fact that most fortunes and the greatest fortunes in the world have been made from "future business property."

In Richmond the opportunity to build one's home on "future business property" can really be appreciated by anyone at all familiar with the growth and development of Richmond. Anyone with any vision at all can not fail to see that the future main business section of Richmond will be along Macdonald avenue from Twenty-third street to San Pablo avenue, along San Pablo avenue and on Barret avenue (an 80 ft. street) to Twenty-third street. Twenty-third street already being the main cross-town street in the city. Thirty-seventh street, also an 80-foot street, has already been zoned as a business street. As the city is constantly growing towards the east, north and south, the territory along and between these main business arteries will constantly and always continue to increase in value.

Here, then, is the place to build your home; here is where the land upon which you build your home will become ugly times more valuable than the present cost of both the land and the building. It is a well-known fact that property in any city, located with the radius of a mile to a mile and a half circle is, and always will be worth more than all the rest of the property combined within the total area of the whole city.

The distance from Twenty-third street to San Pablo avenue is about a mile and an eighth; locate your home within this area and you will indeed have not alone a home in a desirable neighborhood, but an investment, which has every opportunity to grow into a splendid fortune.

There is an old saying "any fool can give advice, but it takes a wise man to profit by it." "A word unto the wise is sufficient." You can make the buying of your home an investment, which will always be a dividend payer.
